

Apes in Space

Have you ever asked yourself how all the apes came to our space? Legend has it they arrived aboard a massive, interstellar vessel—an enterprise-sized shuttle—crashing through the atmosphere and landing on a wild, untamed planet. From that moment on, they were no longer just passengers. They became survivors. Competitors. Explorers.

Forced to contend with the planet's volatile environment and rival species, the apes began adapting rapidly. Driven by the need to endure, evolve, and thrive, they entered a relentless cycle of survival and conquest.
